Superintendent's Highlights

Training in technology continues, with approximately 60% of staff having passed the technology competency tests.

Student writing performance was assessed at all grade levels this year, with data returned to students and teachers.

Fourteen of our high school's extra-curricular teams earned berths at state. Speech, debate, drama and boys basketball finished in the top three places.

The Northwest Regional Educational Laboratory survey of substance abuse and school climate found that Sugar-Salem students have a very low incidence of drug and alcohol use.

Progress Towards Meeting District Goals

1998-99 Goals

Progress

To develop a mathematics curriculum (K-12) coordinated with Idaho's Exiting Standards

A committee of staff wrote math curriculum for grades K-12, cross-referenced to State Exiting Standards. This summer the committee will develop math assessment question to determine students' problems-solving abilities at each grade level.

To assess writing at each grade level.

All district students took a district writing assessment that parallels the state writing assessment given in grades 4, 8 and 11. Scores were compiled and returned to teachers. During the coming year the language arts curriculum committee will review the timing and results of the assessment with the goal of emphasizing in class those writing traits which most need assistance.

To continue training for staff in technology.

Three-fourths of district staff have now received courses in computer applications and Internet use. One of our school computer labs remains open this summer for individualized technology courses.
